

Adding Consequential Illnesses to Your EEOICPA White Card Benefits

What Are Consequential Illnesses?

Consequential illnesses are health conditions that develop as a result of or are worsened by your covered illness under the Department of Labor's EEOICPA program, such as side effects from treatments, complications from medications, or secondary conditions related to your primary diagnosis.

Why Add Consequential Illnesses to Your EEOICPA White Card?

Increased Medical Coverage: Gain access to free medical care for consequential illnesses, including: doctor visits, hospital stays, prescriptions, therapies and treatments, and medical equipment and supplies.

More Home Health Care Support: If your consequential illness affects your ability to perform daily activities, you may qualify for additional home health care services.

Financial Benefits: Eliminate out-of-pocket costs and co-pays for treatments related to consequential illnesses.

Holistic Care Management: By adding consequential illnesses, your care team can better address all your health needs, ensuring you receive the most effective and coordinated treatment possible.

Access to Specialized Services: Some conditions may require specialized treatments, assistive devices, or therapies. Adding these illnesses ensures you're eligible for these critical resources.

Documentation for Future Claims: Keep your medical record up to date to reflect the full scope of your health challenges. This strengthens your case for additional care and services down the road.

How to Add Consequential Illnesses

- 1. Work with an Advocate: Reach out to a case manager or authorized representative for help navigating the process.
- 2. Talk to Your Doctor: Ensure your physician documents how your new illness is linked to your original work-related condition.
- 3. File a Claim: Submit the necessary documentation to the Department of Labor (DOL).

How CNS Cares Can Help?

We're here to support you every step of the way. Contact us for assistance with adding consequential illnesses to your White Card and accessing all the benefits you're entitled to.

Call us at 877-259-9001 or Visit CNSCares.com